

Weekly Recap

Weixiong Zheng

December 19, 2017

1 Updates on previous goals

Previous goals was to discuss the unit test agreement on .

2 Progress up to now

Not too much progress on unit testing. I will try to catch up with Josh to see how to mix Google Test CMake work with setting things up with deal.II. It did not work after experiment conducted last Thursday.

The time after that up until Monday afternoon, I was tweaking the code around with the previous code, on hybridizing CG and DG, if you still recall about the presentation on ANS annual, which I think would be a good temporary switch. I was thinking about wrapping things up, modifying the code and getting additional tests to write a paper on that.

3 Things you need from Rachel

Not up to now.

4 Goals for the coming week

I was about to be off from Tuesday. Before I leave, I will try to catch up with Josh to see what he needs and talk about the testings.